If your circle is not meeting, or if you can't have a circle, please feel free to attend one of the circles that is meeting. Just give the hostess a call—you WILL be welcome!

Rachel/Sarah will welcome you WITHOUT a call—just come!

Piecemakers are meeting again. We look forward to seeing you! Anyone who has a few free hours is invited to join us. We are, of course, far behind in our production, and all hands are welcome!

Bakeless Bake Sale

The Bakeless bake sale is underway. Envelopes are available by the pink cake in the narthex. The offering we give through the Bakeless Bake Sale is our way to fund the charities that we support. Thank you for your generous giving that has enabled us to do so much good in our community.

Sit and Chat Monday, May 10 at 10:00

We have two great articles to discuss: "A Story of Survival" by Brenda Bragg and "Breaking America's Fetish for Lethal Weapons" by Peter W. Marty. Pick up copies at the Women's Counter or download them from the church website. Everyone is welcome!

A Community of Women

Monday, May 17– 9:30 am

Kathy and Rick Henning
Simplicity Lavender Farm

Join us as we welcome Kathy and Rick Henning back to United. They'll share with us their adventures as they seek to develop a sustainable lifestyle on their 5 acre farm in Missouri. A visit to their website tells us that after Kathy experienced severe health problems, she and Rick began to make deep changes which have fostered holistic living for both of them. They have become deeply passionate about sharing a message of love and living a holistic life. They believe in finding joy in the simple things like a campfire at night or a picnic on the farm. The farm has become a place where people can rediscover themselves and reprioritize what is most important. The farm is the place where one can come to check one's stress at the door and simply enjoy the company of family and friends gathered around good food and drink surrounded by the beauty of nature. They look forward to sharing their adventures and telling us about the changes they've made, the natural products they have developed to help in healthful living, and the welcoming environment they are creating at Simplicity Lavender Farm. We know you'll enjoy hearing their story. It will be, our leader, Robin, assures us, "a time to stop and smell the lavender!"

Sign up at the Fellowship counter.
We will still wear mask and practice social distancing.

Everyone is invited!
